GROUPS of children were followed to school in two separate incidents in Haverhill last week.

It has led to Samuel Ward Academy sending a message to all parents encouraging students to be vigilant and report any concerns.

Two 12-year-old boys were approached on Tuesday, February 21, between 8.15am and 8.30am in Chalkstone Way while walking to the school.

Police said the man approached them with 'his arms outspread as if he was trying to catch them' and asked where they were going.

The youngsters carried on to school but the man followed them before turning and walking away.

The next morning, a group of 13-year-old girls were walking to school at 8am in Manor Road when a man went up to them and started asking about their school.

The man brushed past one of the girls as they continued on their way to school. He then followed them for a short time before leaving them alone.

Both groups of youngsters reported the incidents when they got to school.

A spokesman for Samuel Ward Academy confirmed it was aware of an incident and that it had sent out a message.

It is not yet known whether both groups of children attend the school.

The man in Wednesday's incident is described as white, possibly in his 60s, with a bald head and was wearing oval shaped glasses, a dark coat and brown trousers.

Police said there could be an innocent explanation but are appealing for help to trace the man involved and are urging him, or anyone who knows who he is, to come forward.

Anyone with information should call 101 and quote crime number 19201/17.

High Street is cordoned off during storm

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

HAVERHILL'S High Street was closed for four hours last Thursday after Storm Doris ripped part of a roof off a three-storey building.

A large piece of a flat roof landed in a neighbouring property, causing the fire service to cordon off the area while safety assessments were carried out.

People in the High Street were advised to stay indoors and not to try and get in or out of the shops, businesses or restaurants.

The cordon was extended to cover Eden Row, before being lifted around 4pm.

Town councillor Betty McClatchy, who witnessed the incident, said: "It looked just like a scene from the Japanese tsunami."

"I saw half a roof go in the air about 20ft, do a flip and then crash down."

"If it had come down on someone they wouldn't have had a chance."

At Kedington, the A143 was closed for two hours until a power cable was stabilised and made safe just north of Kedington crossroad.

Many Kedington residents were left without power for much of Thursday evening.

A large tree also came crashing down in Beaumont Court, just off Hamlet Road in Haverhill, completely blocking the footpath.

In Feltwell Place, Haverhill, part of a roof came loose.

Firefighters were called out and made the roof secure.

Across social media there were also reports of collapsed fencing, garden sheds being destroyed and bins rolling down the street. A trampoline was also reported as having been blown away and was found on land off Hundon

Road on the way out of Kedington.

No injuries were reported as a result of the storm.

CRIME

'Growing problem' of sex offenders

OVER the last three years in Suffolk there were 218 sex offenders suspected of downloading or distributing indecent images of children.

The latest figures show there were 62 in 2014, 93 in 2015 and 63 in 2016.

A spokesperson from the NSPCC said: "Downloading and distributing child abuse images is an abhorrent crime. Each picture is a crime scene involving a young victim who has been abused and whose suffering is compounded every time that image is passed around online."

The charity called on the government and law enforcement to work together to tackle what it called a 'growing problem'.

Part of the exhibit will include a collection of workplace keepsakes and souvenirs.

The items on display were donated by local firms and their workers.

The exhibition is free and will run 10am-4pm until Tuesday, March 7, (excluding Sunday).

Pictures from the past

THIS week we delved into our archives and those of Haverhill Family History Group and found some classic images from the days of Haverhill Meat Products.

The factory in Little Wratting was a big employer for Haverhill and the surrounding area before being bought out by a Dutch company in 2008.

The photographs show members of the 25 year club, top, taken in either the 1960s or 70s. The other pictures show various stages of production and were mostly taken in the 1980s.

If these pictures bring back any memories, or you have any images you want to share contact rachael.mcmenemy@cambridge-news.co.uk

Deaf children 'face setbacks'

DEAF children are being let down by Suffolk County Council, according to a national society.

The National Deaf Children's Society is now demanding that the council does more to support deaf children and their families.

The demands come just days after an Ofsted report said the council and Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs) were failing to meet the needs of children with special educational needs and disabilities because of a system that was slow, confusing and inefficient.

Gary Nethercott, regional director east at the National Deaf Children's Society, said: "Suffolk County Council and the local NHS services must work together and create an urgent action plan to resolve these issues – and consult deaf children and their families on what should be in that plan. These organisations have a clear duty to support every one of the 665 deaf children in Suffolk, and currently this is not being fulfilled.

"Deaf children should be valued by society and have the same opportunities as any other child. It is therefore essential that Suffolk County Council and local NHS services immediately act on the significant weaknesses documented in this report, as deaf children and young people only have one chance in their life to get the right support to develop their full potential."

@rach_mc94CN

The society identified what it believes to be specific failings according to parents.

It said that deaf children were not being properly assessed and when they are, the council fails to provide support.

It also said that there was inadequate forward planning for deaf children despite their needs being known well in advance.

Ann Jillings, the mother of a profoundly deaf child in Suffolk, said: "To sum up, our experience has been appalling. I have never asked for more than my son is entitled to, but I will not sit back and see him failed by the system."

Cllr Gordon Jones, county council's cabinet member for children's services, education and skills, said: "We acknowledge feedback both from parents and the Ofsted and CQC inspection report, that provision in Suffolk was not as good as it should have been. We have taken steps to increase provision for hearing impaired children and will continue to do so.

"We now have a range of specialist provision in Suffolk which goes beyond that available for hearing impaired children in many authorities. Suffolk County Council is one of the few authorities in the country which offers combined social care and education services for children with sensory impairments.

"In the west of the county we have specialist hearing impaired units in both King Edward's VI School and Westgate Primary School to support hearing impaired children."

APPEAL: NHS staff and suppliers Medequip are urging people to return equipment

Plea to recycle medical supplies

RESIDENTS in West Suffolk are being asked to return medical equipment.

West Suffolk NHS Trust and Suffolk County Council are working with suppliers Medequip in March to get equipment returned.

More than 100,000 pieces of equipment including walking frames, crutches and mattresses were given out last year at a total cost of more than £8.5m. Equipment worth £3.4m was never returned.

Rowan Procter, chief nurse at West Suffolk NHS Trust, said: "Community equipment issued by your local NHS service is prescribed specifically for each patient. Have a spring clean and use our amnesty in March to get rid of unwanted items.

"Whatever it is or whatever state items are in, they will all be assessed and safety tested, and either repaired and reused or stripped down to be recycled – great for our NHS and great for the environment."

Items can be returned to Medequip at any of their three Suffolk locations.

We have a right to fast broadband

In a new monthly column for Haverhill News, West Suffolk MP and Minister for Digital & Culture, Matthew Hancock, talks about the Digital Economy Bill which will create a legal right to minimum internet download speeds

I have been the Member of Parliament for West Suffolk since 2010 and the Minister for Digital & Culture since July 2016 – both roles I find hugely engaging and enjoyable.

When I am out and about in the constituency, one of the main topics of conversation is broadband – how it can be improved and when will people be able to get the broadband that they keep hearing so much about in the news.

It is then that I can draw upon both jobs, as a minister, to explain what we are doing nationally to get people the reliable and fast broadband needed to participate in a modern, digital society in 2017, and also as their MP, working with them to find out when they will get the speeds and connectivity that they quite rightly want and deserve right down to the local level.

I regularly hold meetings across West Suffolk, especially in areas with poor broadband. At these meetings I have been able to explain some of the aspects of the Digital Economy Bill, a Bill that I have taken through Parliament over the past seven months.

The Bill is currently with the House of Lords and it will hopefully be passed into law shortly.

One of the most important aspects of the Bill is that it will create a legal right to minimum internet download speeds for customers. The universal right to a high speed broadband will be put on par with the right to water and electricity.

Naturally, residents want to know when they will be in line for superfast broadband upgrades and we are working with BT and others to get them the most reliable and up-to-date information.

I have found that the questions that residents have asked and the stories they have told about their own digital situations have been extremely interesting and enlightening, but most of all, they reinforce my belief that fast broadband is a non-negotiable part of living and working today and to be without it is both socially isolating as well as economically disadvantageous.

I will keep up the pressure until all my constituents have the fast broadband speeds they require.

DYNAMIC DUO: Friends Kerry Farrant, left, and Emma Williams have raised more than £13,000 with their fundraising

Fundraising friends give donations

TWO Haverhill women who each lost a parent to cancer have raised more than £13,000 for charity.

Kerry Farrant and her friend Emma Williams held multiple events during 2016, including a family fun day, bingo nights and a Christmas fair to raise money for Addenbrooke's Hospital oncology department and St Nicholas Hospice Care.

The pair originally planned to raise £10,000.

Kerry said: "We smashed our target, it's a brilliant amount. When we went to St Nicholas and Addenbrooke's they were both overjoyed."

The family fun day, at the New Croft in Haverhill, raised £8,000 alone.

All together, the pair raised £13,033.70 which was split evenly between the two groups.

Cheques were presented to the hospital and hospice last week.

CRIME

Young man exposes himself in park

POLICE are hunting a man who indecently exposed himself to a dog walker in a Haverhill park.

The woman was walking her dog on Sunday, February 19, at 11am through the park on Park Road when she noticed a young man ahead of her.

As she got closer she realised he was naked from the waist down.

The man, who is thought to be in his mid teens to early 20s, of slim build and was wearing a grey hooded top, was standing near some bushes around Newt Pond in the park.

Haverhill residents posting on Facebook feared the man might expose himself again.

The park is popular among children and dog walkers.

Anyone with information about the incident or the man involved should call Suffolk Police on 101, quoting crime number 19068/17/

TRANSPORT

Days mums and children went by rail to Clacton

RACHAEL MCMENEMY

@rach_mc94CN

THIS month marks 50 years since Haverhill railway was closed.

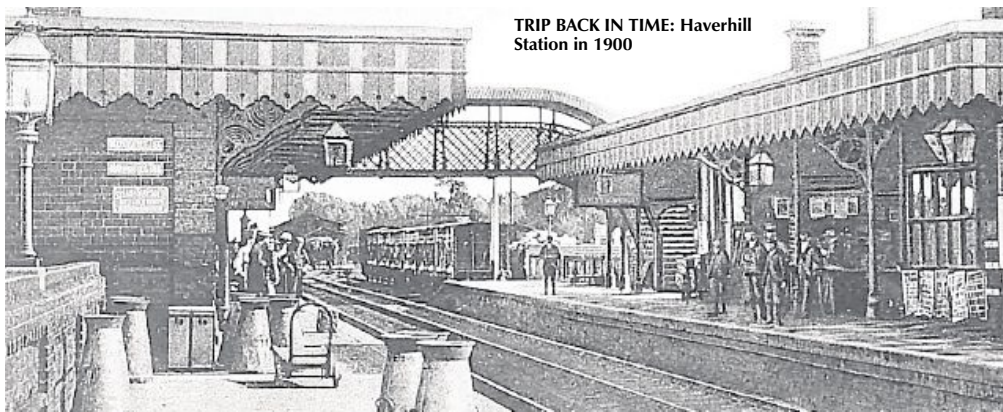

Many people in the town have fond memories of the historic railway and more than 4,000 people have signed a petition to re-open it.

Town councillor Tony Brown reminisced about summer trips to Clacton on the railway shortly before it shut down.

He said: "The Co-op used to do mum and kid trips to Clacton and I remember being 4 or 5 with my mum, waiting outside the station for the train to come. It was a big outing, all the mums and children in the town would go to Clacton and back in one day."

Cllr Brown, who is also a member of Rail Haverhill, a group seeking to re-open or build a new railway, said one of the reasons the railway closure was so devastating was that Haverhill had become a London overspill town in the 60s.

Cllr Brown said: "When the railway shut down in 1967 the population of Haverhill was roughly 8,000, the population now is 30,000.

"There are huge developments planned and projected population growth could see the number rise to 40,000 people, but there's less transport than when we had 8,000. We can't keep putting cars on the road."

Now, 50 years on, campaigners for a Haverhill rail link remain optimistic about the possibility of reopening or building a new line.

Heike Sowa, chairwoman of Rail Haverhill, said: "The location of Haverhill on the borders of different counties means it is quite isolated which is why the railway would be so important."

Currently, Rail Haverhill is working in partnership with Rail Future and Cambridge Connect about the possibility of a light rail system which would start in Cambridge and eventually extend to Haverhill.

Campaigners believe this would be cheaper and more efficient than current proposals to widen the A1307.

The railway ran for more than 100 years from 1865 to 1967.

Asbestos disease is still claiming lives

Phoebe Osborne, a Solicitor at Ashtons Legal, offers some advice from a legal perspective.

Currently 4,500 people in the UK die each year from asbestos related diseases, of which over 2,500 die from mesothelioma, a fatal form of lung cancer caused by inhalation of asbestos dust. Other asbestos diseases include asbestos related lung cancer, pleural thickening which causes breathlessness and asbestosis a fibrosis of the lung, which can also lead to death.

Most people who have been exposed to asbestos never suffer any illness, but those who do develop symptoms 20, 30 or 40 years later, are diagnosed during retirement or whilst working to care for families. It is no longer only construction workers, plumbers and carpenters who are being diagnosed, in the last decade an increasing number of teachers, former pupils, and nurses have been diagnosed with mesothelioma, showing you do not need to work directly with asbestos to be at future risk.

When someone is diagnosed with an asbestos disease they should contact a solicitor to seek specialist legal advice about bringing a legal claim against their former employer.

Where an employer or their insurer cannot be traced we can assist in applying for compensation under the diffuse mesothelioma payment scheme and together with the Anglia Asbestos Disease Support Group work tirelessly for clients, providing support throughout their claim.

The shock of being diagnosed with any asbestos disease can cause huge anxiety and we work hard to achieve in-lifetime settlements, giving peace of mind and financial security to our clients. We regularly obtain interim payments of £50,000 using the specialist procedure set up by the Royal Courts of Justice and just recently secured a settlement of £277,000 for a gentleman diagnosed with mesothelioma.

Sadly some victims are only diagnosed with mesothelioma at inquest, where the coroner orders a post mortem to establish the cause of an industrial disease. This can be very upsetting for family members and we offer support and guidance throughout the process to secure justice. It is not uncommon to settle a claim after death, based on witness evidence and investigation work.

ASSEMBLY: Staff and pupils got together yesterday morning to celebrate the anniversary

School notches up half century

CLEMENTS Community Primary School in Haverhill celebrated its 50th anniversary yesterday.

The school took a jump back in time to 1967 to celebrate the milestone.

Deputy head Jason Austin-Guest said: "Many of our families have been part of the Clements Community for generations, this was an invaluable opportunity for children to learn about and celebrate the past and compare it to modern life today."

Staff and pupils dressed up in 60's clothing, made pop art, learned about the space programme and even made their own space-ships.

They also learned about megastar group the Beatles and designed their own record covers.

Clare Skinner said: "The children had a great day doing lots of activities while 1960's songs played in the classrooms."

"Everyone looked fantastic in their 1960's outfits. Each child also got a mini 50th birthday cupcake."

In 2011 the school moved from Clarendon Road, Haverhill, to its new site in Greenfields Way to allow for expansion.

LIVE BROADCAST: Hedda Gabler on Thursday, March 9

ONE of the august names of Radio 4 visits Haverhill Arts Centre tomorrow.

Barry Cryer has written jokes for the great and the good of British comedy including Morecombe and Wise, Tommy Cooper, the Two Ronnies, Frankie Howerd and many more.

This time he is with his playmate from I'm Sorry I Haven't a Clue, Colin Sell (the lovely Samantha unfortunately had a prior engagement).

In their show Strictly Come Joking, Colin and Barry describe themselves as 'the Ant n Dec of the Sanatogen set'. The script, which they made up by themselves, combines jokes and songs along with the amazing realisation that they are both still here to tell and sing them.

■ Saturday sees the return of the ever-popular UB40 tribute, Rats in the Kitchen. So popular in fact, that tickets are sold out. They are sure to be back so, if you missed out this time, watch out on the arts centre website and Facebook page for the announcement so you can buy your tickets early.

■ The arts centre has Martin Carthy and John Kirkpatrick, two leading figures from the folk scene on Monday, March 6. Martin and John will be known from their days in Steeleye Span, The Albion Band and Brass Monkey and Martin for his more recent collaborations with artists such as Dave Swarbrick; his wife Norma Waterson and his daughter Eliza Carthy. See the old friends at 7.30pm.

■ Ruth Wilson, perhaps best known for her turn as Jane Eyre in the BBC drama, stars as the titular character in Ibsen's play Hedda Gabler. Hedda is not happy. She's just returned from honeymoon and is already suffering from 'buyer's remorse'. Trapped in her marriage she starts to try and control those around her – and it doesn't go well. This live broadcast from the National Theatre starts at 7pm on March 9.

■ On the silver screen the arts centre has Natalie Portman playing that iconic First Lady Jackie Kennedy. This film looks at Jackie's life in the aftermath of JFK's assassination and how she fights to hold on to her dignity in this quietly harrowing study of grief.

On a slightly lighter note Natalie looks just as good as the original in all those shift dresses and with that bouffant hair, so go and see Jackie (15) on Tuesday, March 7.

One for all the cowboys and cowgals coming up next; it's time to whipcrack-away with Calamity Jane the sing-a-long version on Friday, March 10. Doris Day stars as good 'ol Jane and Howard Steel as her lover/singing partner Buffalo Bill, two Wild West legends. This version may not help you pass any history tests but that is more than made up for by the joy of singing along to all those Golden Age tunes. Experience Calamity Jane at 7.30pm.

■ Soon to be treading the boards: Centre Stage's latest Allo, Allo, Wednesday, March 15, to Saturday, March 18 and Mud Morganfield, son of the legendary Muddy Waters on Friday, March 24.

■ Friday, March 3, 8pm, Barry Cryer and Colin Sell – Strictly Come Joking

Aston Martin adds Red Bull Racing editions to Vantage mix

THE Formula 1 season gets underway next month and Aston Martin has unveiled its latest additions to the Vantage range, the V8 and V12 Vantage S Red Bull Racing Editions.

These special editions have been created by the marque's in-house personalisation service "Q By Aston Martin".

They come with a range of distinguishing features for devoted Formula 1 enthusiasts including the option of signatures of Red Bull drivers Daniel Ricciardo and Max Verstappen adorning both sill and inspection plaques.

Taking inspiration from Red Bull Racing's distinctive race livery, owners will be treated to a deep mariana blue paint finish as standard. For those wanting a slight twist, gloss tungsten silver or satin mariana blue exteriors are optional.

They also come with carbon fibre splitter, diffuser, grille and side strakes. Red infills on the carbon fibre grille and yellow callipers complete the iconic colour scheme.

Inside, customers get further sporting features, including Red Bull Racing headrest embroidery, carbon fibre trim inlays, diamond-quilting and an alcantara steering wheel complete with 12 o'clock accent stripe.

Aston Martin president and CEO Andy Palmer said: "Motorsport is and will always be a key part of Aston Martin's DNA and both the V8 and V12 Vantage S Red Bull Racing Editions bring that ethos straight to our customers."

"With the FIA Formula 1 championship set to begin soon, I hope that the purchase of these models will bring the racing season that little bit closer for those lucky few customers who can't wait for it to begin".

Deliveries are expected to begin in spring. Pricing to follow soon.

MEAN AND GREEN: New Tepee

Peugeot charges up the Partner Tepee

IT MAY not be the most stylish vehicle in the world, but it's certainly one of the most practical for small businesses and families on the move.

And now Peugeot's Partner Tepee is set to become one of the greenest and meanest multi-purpose people carriers on the road with the arrival of an all-electric version.

With low running costs and a certified range of over 100 miles on a single charge, the Partner Tepee Electric could become a significant player for those who need a dual-purpose vehicle which can be used both for business and family outings.

Thanks to its zero emissions, the Tepee can be driven in regulated-emissions zones and during regulated traffic times and will also benefit from tax exemption with the new Vehicle Excise Duty regulations due soon.

The new Partner Tepee Electric will be launched officially at the Geneva International Motor Show next month.

CHARGING UP: At home

Electric Nation has been switched on

ELECTRIC vehicle owners are starting to have free smart chargers installed as a result of their participation in the Electric Nation project. The latest smart chargers will future-proof their electric vehicle (EV) home charging, and they will play an important role in a research project to ensure that the UK's local electricity networks can cope with the ever-growing numbers of electric cars.

Motorists buying or leasing a new electric vehicle are invited to become part of the Electric Nation community. Initially the trial will take place in the WPD network areas in the Midlands, South West and South Wales.

Ford launches tax change customer care programme

FORD is leading its biggest customer care exercise of the decade to prepare for changes in road tax due in under six weeks' time.

From April 1, Vehicle Excise Duty (VED) will first be calculated from a car's CO2 emissions. The majority of cars will move to a standard rate of £140 annually from the second licence. Cars with zero emissions will be exempt from new, while others priced over £40,000 will be charged an additional £310 a year, on top of the standard rate, for the following five years.

As market leader with the most customers to guide through the transition, Ford began advising its car buyers last year on the changes. The customer liaison necessary, by Ford HQ and dealer staff, is at a level not seen since the government's scrappage scheme in 2009.

Ford's most sought-after models such as Mustang, RS and Edge have longer leadtimes, meaning that those buyers were made aware first of the March 31 deadline to register cars against lower outgoing VED bands.

All become more expensive to tax from April – apart from coupé Ford Mustang V8s, which become almost £200 a year cheaper over six years. Right-hand drive 5.0-litre Fastbacks, costing well under the new system's premium rate £40,000 threshold, become £995 more tax efficient in this period.

The zero VED rate currently applies to 93 per cent of new Ford Fiestas – Britain's best-selling car – thanks to emissions under 131g CO2/km emissions. February and March's introduction of the new 17-plate are set to prompt a surge in Fiesta sales ahead of the new annual VED levy of at least £140 on every model in the range.

From April 1 free road tax will apply to zero-emission vehicles, including the Ford Focus Battery Electric Vehicle. With a 140-mile range and 30-minute fast charging, the Focus BEV is part of Ford's £3.5 billion investment in electric vehicles in the five years to 2020.

Andy Barratt, Ford of Britain chairman and managing director, said: "After last month's biggest January vehicle sales volume for Ford since 1990, these imminent VED changes are driving further sales peaks. I anticipate a bumper March especially as buyers move fast to beat the tax man."

The stage is set for the unveiling of the Hyundai i30 Tourer

THIS year's Geneva International Motor Show will be the stage for the unveiling of the New Generation Hyundai i30 Tourer. The new member of the i30 family maintains the timeless design of its five-door sibling, adding elegance and versatility in its body style.

"Designed, developed, tested and manufactured in Europe, the New Generation Hyundai i30 is Hyundai Motor's DNA car in Europe," says Thomas A. Schmid, chief operating officer at Hyundai Motor Europe. "The i30 is more than just a model – it is a family of cars, consisting of four body types with unique characters united by a coherent, timeless design. With the new i30 Tourer we are now introducing the next body type, offering elegance and versatility for everyone."

The i30 Wagon offers customers a spacious and elegant interior with a horizontal layout and free floating screen for the infotainment system. The eight-inch touch screen of the new generation navigation system offers state-of-the-art connectivity features such as Apple CarPlay, Android Auto and LIVE Services. A wireless charging system for smartphones with the Qi standard is available as well.

The powertrain line-up of the i30 Tourer consists of downsized turbocharged engines to enhance efficiency and responsiveness. Customers can choose from two petrol engines and one 1.6-litre turbo diesel engine with 110PS.

VW fits 'crash scam' camera to van range

THE crash for cash scam in which other drivers force a collision and heap blame on innocent drivers for insurance payouts is causing concern with the authorities and insurance companies.

With this dangerous swindle costing British drivers around £340 million per year, Volkswagen Commercial Vehicles has partnered with leading technology firm Kenwood to offer customers a class-leading dashboard camera.

The DRV-410 is the latest in state-of-the-art equipment designed to record a driver's eye view of the road ahead and provide an effective deterrent against fraudulent claims.

With the capacity to record in both dark and light conditions, the windscreen-mounted dash camera's High Dynamic Range technology (which will not under- or over-expose) is priced from £175 (fitted excluding VAT).

IN THE FRAME: New model bigger than Evoque and smaller than Sport

Range Rover adds Velar to the range

AT last, Land Rover's long awaited, mid-range luxury SUV can be revealed ... at least in part.

Officially the wraps will not be taken off the fourth member of the Range Rover family for another week or so, but these sneak preview images show the elegant-looking rear of the new car fitted with a panoramic glass roof and demonstrate where it will slot into the model line-up.

Wider and higher than the Evoque, it will be named the Range Rover Velar – the codename given by Land Rover to the very first Range Rover prototypes in 1969 – it will fit between the Evoque and the larger Range Rover Sport. "Filling the white space," between the two, says the company.

Land Rover is keeping details to itself at the moment, but the company promises "elegant simplicity, a visually reductive approach and pioneering consumer technology".

Land Rover chief design officer, Gerry McGovern, said: "We call the Velar the avant garde Range Rover. It brings a new dimension of glamour, modernity and elegance to the brand. The Range Rover Velar changes everything."

Full details will be announced on March 1 ahead of its public unveiling at the Geneva Motor Show the following week.

THE VELAR: Intriguing prospect

New Dacia Stepway option

DACIA STEPWAY: Success story

THE Stepway family, one of Dacia's biggest success stories, maintains its growing momentum with the addition of a fifth member to the Dacia range – the new Logan MCV Stepway – following the Sandero, Sandero Stepway, Duster and Logan MCV.

The new Logan MCV Stepway sports an undeniably muscular build, with an assertive personality that draws inspiration from the world of crossover styling, offering first class practicality and vast load space at an extremely competitive price.

The key qualities of the Logan MCV include impressive interior space, with five proper seats, and a 573-litre boot – among the largest in any segment of the automotive market.

Ground clearance has been increased to 174mm – 50mm more than that of the Logan MCV – while its high-up driving position ensures outstanding visibility. Petrol and diesel options are available from launch.

Brilliant Borough make it 10 wins in a row

HAVERHILL Borough racked up their 10th consecutive win in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division following a tough, physical encounter at Halstead Town.

Boro keeper Paul Walker was kept busy in the opening exchanges, with Charlie Holmes twice spurning good chances for the visitors.

Halstead's task became harder when former Boro forward Shaun Avis was sent off after tripping Walker as he attempted to throw the ball to a team-mate.

Boro started the second half strongly, and they took the lead in the 59th minute through Luke Clark.

Walker was forced into a good save as the home side responded to going a goal down, but a quick counter-attack saw Rory Bone break free and score Boro's second goal.

Haverhill Rovers picked up a point in their first draw in two and a half months following a goalless stalemate at home to Great Yarmouth Town.

Rovers keeper Charlie Turner and his opposite number were rarely troubled throughout the match, but they did enough when called upon to keep the opposition out.

A brace of Luke Haines free kicks almost created a good chance for Rovers but Jonathan Milne was unable to find the target after the Yarmouth keeper dropped the ball.

Turner pulled off a good save in the second half to keep the visitors out, and late in the game Rovers substitute Will Gardner hit a 20-yard shot that only just cleared the crossbar.

Brown bags the winner for Town

HAVERHILL Town under-15s enjoyed a 2-1 win at Sawston United in the Premier Sock Tape Cambridge & District Colts League.

The match started with Sawston looking the more settled side, and they took advantage of some slack defending to open the scoring.

Town found themselves coming under increasing pressure but they cleared their lines well, and it remained 1-0 at half time.

Town came out firing at the start of the second half and 10 minutes after the restart, Tyler Griffin scored a superb equaliser after good work by Cameron Reid.

Buoyed by the goal, Town began to take control as they started competing well in every area of the pitch.

It was the hosts who had the best chance to score, however, when they were awarded a penalty for handball.

But Town keeper Harry Cornelius pulled off a superb save to keep the scores level and fuel his team-mates belief even more.

And then a short while later, Riley Brown fired past the Sawston keeper to put Town 2-1 up, a lead they held on to by riding out the inevitable onslaught that followed.
